EDWARD D. LIBBEY HIGH SCHOOL
TOLEDO, OHIO

To the Parents and Pupils,
Libbey High School,
Toledo, Ohio.

May 1, 1944

We have checked the results of the past year of Libbey high school and beg to submit the following report.

Scholastically, we have had a normal year. Many of our pupils have maintained Honor Grades and the percentage of Failures has been slightly below normal. We have entered many contests with surprising success. In the American Legion annual city essay contest, we captured six of the eight first places possible. In the Prince of Peace Declaration Contest, our contestant won in both the city and district. In the annual State examinations for Seniors, we won first, second and fifth place in the city; while twelve of the first twenty-five places went to Libbey students. The whole tone of our scholastic record, both as to student effort and instruction met with the highest approval of the State High School Examiner, who, after a two day visitation, rated us one of the outstanding high schools of the State.

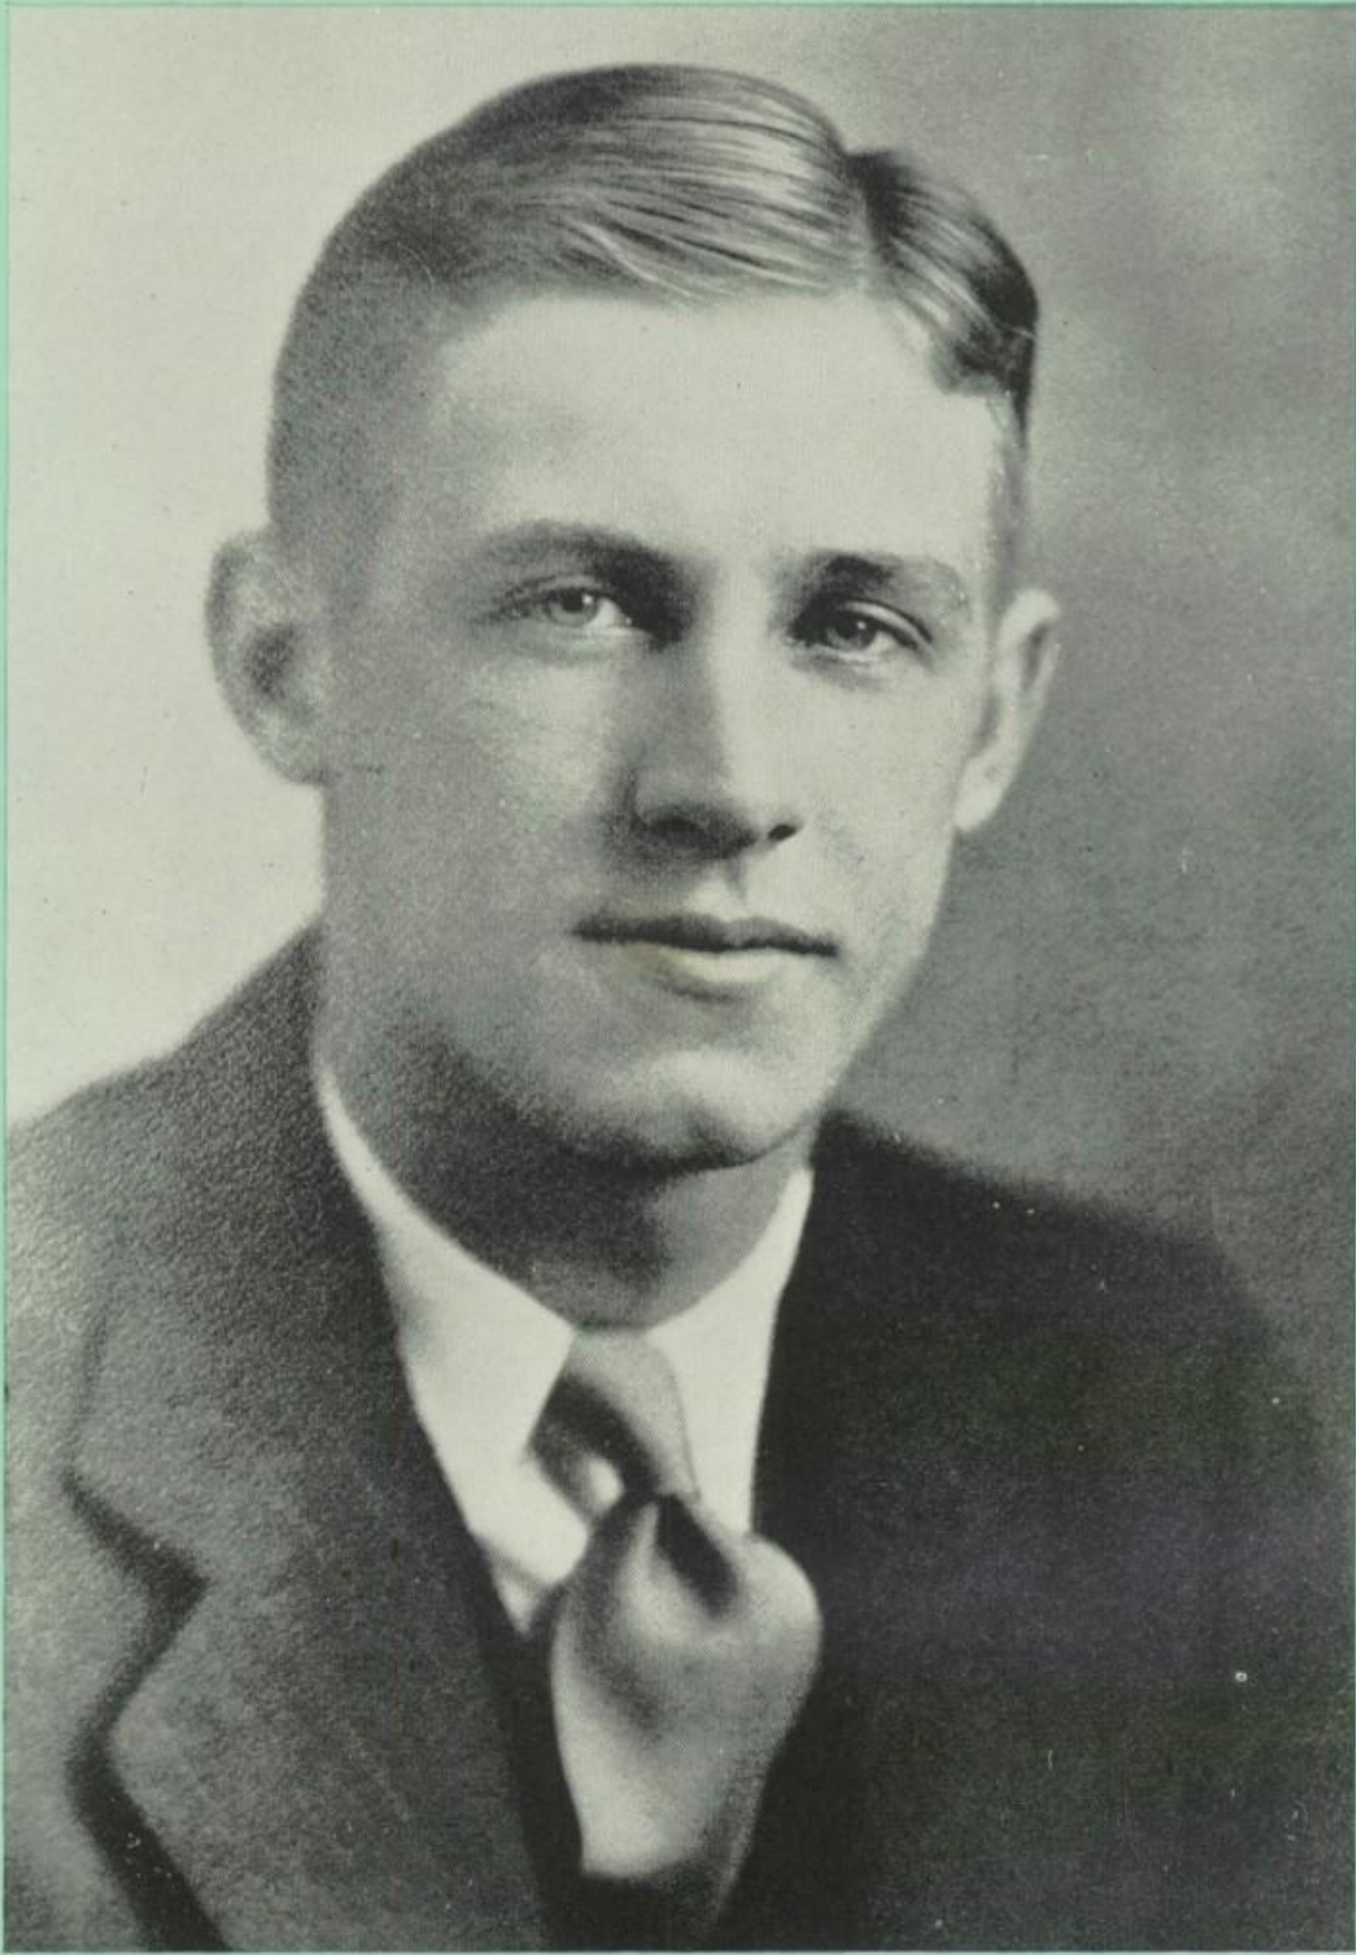

Athletically, our football team won second place in the city league. Our basketball squad played good ball throughout the season. Our golf team is having a successful year and we are expecting good results in track.

Socially, even the war and its privations have not stopped our programs. Picture shows, parties, teas, dances, the annual Door Prize Show, and initiations have been uniformly successful. The Senior and Junior classes united for their Annual Prom and held a most successful dance at the Woman's Building.

Spiritually, we have grown and have come to appreciate the value of prayer and service and genuine worship. Our Minute of Silence, each day, when all hearts are raised to God for His blessing on our absent soldier boys, has been a real benediction to us all. Our Lenten services were sources of Inspiration and filled us with greater love for the Man of Nazareth. Our clubs and societies were engaged in real acts of service for the U.S.O., for the Aged, for the Orphans and other needy groups. Thus we learned the Value of Service.

As we submit this report to you, we do so with a heart full of thanks to God for the privilege of working with so splendid a group of teachers and of students.

Harold E. Williams.

JAMES W. ORWIG

JAMES W. ORWIG

Affectionately known as "Bill" by nearly all of the boys of Libbey High School, the coach of our football and basketball teams enjoys a popularity that he justly deserves. A graduate of our old rival Scott High School, and a football player at that school in the opening years of Libbey, James Orwig later went to the University of Michigan where he was awarded the degree of Bachelor of Science in Education. Subsequently he taught in Benton Harbor, Michigan, where he was also coach. From there he came to us as a teacher of Social Studies. In addition to his work as instructor and coach Mr. Orwig is also the adviser of the National Honor Society as well as adviser of the Junior and Senior Classes.

Throughout his high school and college years, athletically our Coach was well trained in football, basketball, baseball, and swimming. Now he has added to these interests the hobbies of hunting and fishing. Very happy in his home life with his wife, his daughter, Janice, and small son, Bill, Mr. Orwig also enters into the Christian life of our city as a member of the Congregational church group.

Mr. Orwig's enthusiasm and hard work as Coach have brought much praise and fame to our school. His influence upon us as a teacher has been a splendid one. He is fun-loving, witty, earnest, conscientious, and determined to succeed. As seniors we are very proud to congratulate him on all his fine work and to show him our appreciation and gratitude by dedicating to him the Edelian of 1944.

SUPERINTENDENT OF TOLEDO SCHOOLS

To moderate the extremes in a period of demanded changes and to plan for the adjustments that will necessarily follow are problems that every educational leader in our nation is facing today. Both by his experience and by his ability, Mr. Edward L. Bowsher, Toledo's Superintendent of Schools, has won the confidence of all of us. We Seniors of Libbey High School wish to congratulate Mr. Bowsher on his excellent educational program and wish him continued success.

Harold E. Williams

PRINCIPAL OF LIBBEY HIGH SCHOOL

Throughout all the arduous hours of his administrative duties, our principal Mr. Harold E. Williams, works earnestly and devotedly to promote the spiritual and intellectual development of every one of us. As we who are Seniors leave Libbey High School we are remembering gratefully and affectionately all the inspiration and help we have received from Mr. Williams, who has been to us an example of kindness, fairness, and broadminded understanding. We shall endeavor to practice the ideals of Christian living he so sincerely taught us.

An eager, asking lad,
Sure of his world and all its sheltering love,
So ignorant of pain and fear and death.
We urged him to be kind and to be good.
We taught him rules of wisdom and of truth.
And when, with gleeful pranks and boastings brave,
He sometimes broke away from routines dull,
We smiled with secret gladness that he still was but a boy.

Then, crashing through his world of love and peace, came war,
And he was called to guard the truths we taught.
He left us, smiling with a faith in his own power
That changed our fear to pride.
We cannot tell you where he is today
This boy of ours. But this we know,
That whether desolation, dread, or death shall be his portion,
Our wisdom and our love shall still enfold him.

And if, God willing, he may yet return to us,
We offer up this prayer:
Almighty God! blot from his fine young mind war's bestial scenes.
Purge from his soul man's blasphemy and hate.
Leave in his heart an image of Thine own great love of men,
That in a world of peace, he may perpetuate
Thy gospel of eternal charity.
But whether it be war or peace, oh God,
Into the tender mercy of Thy loving hands,
Do we commend, with humble hearts,
The life and spirit of the boy we love.

YESTERDAY OR TOMORROW

The tomorrow which each one of us faces is waiting for us beyond the horizon, waiting to tell us whether we are to be a success or a failure in our chosen task. For the men and women of today that tomorrow has almost been grasped; but for us, the boys and girls of America, the tomorrow lies far in the distance. We are building our hopes and dreams about a future which we earnestly pray will be radiant and glistening, washed clean by a rain of peace and justice. Many times while we are constructing that future, scenes from the years we have traversed thus far will flash upon our inward eye, and once again we shall see our school life, our home life, our life as citizens of the United States.

At the present time we are partaking of the countless number of opportunities which have been preserved and guarded for us by our parents and leaders. The home, the state, the school, and the church are still the rocks forming the foundations of the United States. But why not admit to ourselves now that we have actually neglected to understand and appreciate what is existing today? Have you and I ever really taken the time to investigate the wealth of knowledge which is always waiting for us? Do we honestly realize what is present in the nation today that tenders us the chance of acquiring the knowledge which aids us when we become voters? Do we comprehend the fact that our schools have progressed rapidly during the last fifty years? Or are we taking all this for granted, just as we have done with so many other things in America?

The thousands of schools which feed the minds of millions of boys and girls have gone through a period of transition just as the world has; and it is still continuing. Such a statement can be confirmed after we view both building and teacher. Thirty or forty years ago a "schoolboy with his shining morning face, creeping like snail unwillingly to school," walked into a desolate and bleak classroom, the walls barren and spiritless, the teacher solemn and grave. A day of study and employment followed, sparsely sprinkled with pleasantness. The pedagogue seated himself at his desk and looked upon his class with eyes of indifference, never thinking of his students as human beings like himself. The one thought which undoubtedly flashed through his mind was, "They don't care about learning, but I'm being paid to teach them; so I shall do my duty." Faith, confidence, and understanding in the pupil were rare. School wasn't life, it was almost dull imprisonment.

Health conditions, in themselves, were one of the greatest problems of the time and hazards to all prospective students. Improper heating facilities, inadequate protection against drafts, together with exposure to weather resulted in a disastrous death rate. The fact that the art of switching was employed only too frequently, produced antagonism and many times illness and disfigurement. In comparison with today's school responsibilities those of forty years ago were nil. Always present throughout the year are our school nurse and doctors, who aid us whenever we feel the necessity. Proper heating, attractive and cheerful classrooms, and cafeteria service providing warm, nutritious meals, are a pleasure and comfort to each student. In recent years separate departments in some schools were opened which enable children to purchase well-balanced and nourishing meals. Competent dieticians are always near, regulating the diets of these children. Were such conditions nationally existing fifty years ago?

Yes, when we compare these with those existing today, the difference is tremendous. Instead of only applying the theory "Pupils have minds, minds have faculties, and faculties can be trained," to teaching, this mental discipline is placed second in importance to the fact that students are people. As a prominent educator has stated, "Teachers understand that they are dealing first with human beings, with pencils and test tubes second." Indeed, teachers of today are a far cry from those of yesteryear. In training they are much better equipped than their colleagues of former years. Rigid examinations and minute training in every phase of this career equip the individual with the mechanical tools with which he must operate. However, when a prospective teacher is well on his way in his training, character and personality are closely studied. An individual who is an excellent educator, but who possesses a very poor personality, one which students will immediately dislike, is not adequate material for the teacher of today. In fact, all teachers are actually on probation for a certain length of time after graduation.

Fundamentally, however, education is a lifelong process and not a pre-determined segment of our lives which begins at six and halts abruptly at 18 or 22. We are what we are because of the people who have touched our lives and the experiences by which we have profited. Our teachers, apprehending this fact, have, therefore, started us on our way by being not only teachers, but also friends. Patience, sympathy, understanding, appreciation, and a sense of fair play are only some of the many characteristics possessed by them, traits which make us love and remember them always.

The schools which we and our fellow class-mates throughout the nation attend each day are, indeed, palaces in comparison to the one room structures of yesterday. Tonight when we look back on our own scholastic life, I think that we are remembering only the joyful and pleasant experiences, and that includes our studies, too. Everyone has made studying in school a cheerful task. Warmth, comfort, and friendship are about us always.

When we remember the years which have been consumed in our education, they are very different from those of years ago. Now a war threatens our security, our schools, and our churches. We, the high school students of America, are upon the threshold of life, resolved to do our best in constructing the future world. If we keep burning in our minds those institutions and customs which our forefathers and parents have established for us, our task will probably be more arduous because we realize that our responsibility is one of the greatest today, that of both defending and perpetuating. If thankfulness and gratitude remain imbedded in each of our hearts; if the desire for an honest career directs our thoughts; and, if we ask our God and Father to walk by our side during the days of war and peace, victory, God willing, shall be ours.

RUTH PRUETER.

THE CHALLENGE

"If we could but on free soil stand
And see the world with the people free!"

Students of Libbey, this hour we walk hand in hand with destiny.

From the lips of those brave men who have given their lives there thunders a challenge that we cannot ignore. It is an immortal voice that cries out for hope, and for love, and for peace.

They did not ask, "What price Victory?" They did not ask for war—but when the bombs burst about them they did not falter. They have written an heroic page in blazing letters of blood in this nation's history. They died in glory—yet do they rest? The conflict in which they fell still rages. The holocaust of war has embroiled the whole world.

Can their spirits rest while the job is yet undone? Can we, the men and women of today, rest when we hear their challenge ringing down through eternity?

Inevitably we must all hear that clarion call, but each of us will hear it in a different key. We must realize that there are a thousand ways to answer the call—that Victory and Peace must be gained through the efforts of farmers, lawyers, doctors, laborers, students, and teachers as well as by those of us who will fight on the battlefields.

It is not easy for young Americans to feel that they have a great deal to do with national affairs. Too many people say we are the "generation of tomorrow." They forget we are fighting a war today. If we can fight, why can we not as easily bear the responsibility of keeping our standards bright and our aims high. Of all times, now is the hour we most need individual and national integrity.

Never before has American Youth had to face a future so filled with peril. Never before has a graduating class had such a tremendous duty placed in their hands. Others have bravely and successfully carried the burden this far. It is now given to us. We pray God that we shall not have to pass it further. Upon us rests the responsibility of winning a material Victory and establishing a just and lasting peace. Only education, tolerance, and understanding can bring a complete and lasting Victory.

May the spirit of unselfish service exemplified in our principal, Mr. Williams, and in all our teachers be instilled in us that we may better perform the task ahead.

To our parents we can say little, for the words of a moment cannot repay your years of kindness. We pledge ourselves to give our best in whatever lies before us.

No one can say what the future holds in store. We must always remember as we face the problems and suffering of war that "This too shall pass away." We must plan, and dream, and work. And when the day of Victory comes may the tears of happiness wash away the stain of bitterness in our hearts.

Now we grope through the darkness of war, but as each of us goes out to do his part may we consider this thought—

"I said to the man who stood at the gate of the year, 'Give me a light, that I may tread safely into the unknown,' and he replied, 'Go out into the darkness and put your hand into the hand of God. That shall be to you better than a light and safer than a known way.'"

Perhaps never in the history of Libbey has our Edelian seemed so important as in these war years when every one is so eager to see permanently recorded the history of his classmates and, of course, himself. Now more than ever a yearbook becomes a book of treasured memories, a handy reference book, something to treasure always. Since September, as the Edelian staff has, sometimes laboriously, visited every nook and cranny of the building and has tried to probe into the minds of students and teachers for facts that would make interesting copy, the yearbook has grown. Finally in May it appeared at the senior banquet to delight the student body.

This year the policy of the Edelian remained constant in its division of work. All the planning and editorial work was done by the editorial staff, headed by Laura Mentzer, the editor-in-chief, and the associate editor, Delores Demarkowski. Nancy Sherman and Dulane Kaiser were in charge of the senior section, while the classes were managed by Phyllis Jaeck and Helen Klinger. Faculty copy was produced by Myrna Schnetzler and Helen Atkinson. Phyllis Asmussen and Glenna Myers were club editors; Frances Lamb was snapshot editor, and the sports editors were Carrol Keyser and Roland Lampe. In addition to their other work the two Phyllises faithfully typed most of the copy.

With her customary cheerfulness and cooperation Miss Gertrude Payne acted again as snapshot adviser. Her work included many of the pictures shown in the sports section as well as on the snapshot pages. Mr. Charles Martin capably directed his staff in the business and financial department of the Edelian. Their work included taking subscriptions, getting ads, and attending to the distribution of the book. The circulation and advertising managers were Margie Hemsoth and Shirley Kime, respectively.

The continued success of the yearbook is due in large measure to Principal Harold E. Williams, who aids the director, Miss Ruth Dusha, by his help and encouragement throughout the many duties and problems that are entailed in the production of the Edelian. The staff of 1944 is proud of its work.

A reporter enters a classroom—any classroom. "May I distribute the Crystals, please?" With sureness and precision every student produces his Activities ticket or a nickel. With eager eyes he scans the newest edition of Libbey's school paper and just as eagerly reads it again and again. During the past year the Crystal staff has been unusually active generating enthusiasm and interest throughout the school. Miss Florence Gerdes directed the literary work of the paper and Miss Gertrude Payne took all of the snapshots which made the picture page such a popular feature of the publication.

The staff consisted of the following members: Bobbie Simpson as Editor-in-Chief was assisted by Margarete Mann and Nancy Boyer. The work of News Editor was done by Donna Shultz and the editorial department supervised by Gerry Lindroth. Virginia Boyer managed the Feature section and the Art work was handled by Nancy Boyer and Margarete Mann. The Sports department was covered by Malcolm Shaw and Jerry Walls. Betty Campbell and Marilyn Riehle acted as Service Editors. The Business Editors were Charles Church and Paul Allen. Reda Sarver directed the Exchange department and managed Circulation.

As a part of Libbey's contribution to service in the war effort, copies of the Crystal were mailed to two hundred men in the Armed Forces. In addition every effort was spent to secure and publish news about our boys who are in service. Thus at the year's end the school paper has crystalized in permanent record the drama which is student life at Libbey.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

To be elected to the National Honor Society is the highest honor that any pupil may obtain. This year fifty-eight seniors and twenty-six juniors were received into the society which was composed of twenty-six seniors who had been elected to the society when they were juniors. The new members were elected by the teachers from a list of the upper third of the senior class and the top fifteenth of the junior class. They are chosen on a basis of scholarship, leadership, character, and service. Scholarship is the first requirement for membership to the National Honor Society. Next the student must have a fine and praiseworthy character. He must also be a good follower and by being a follower he will be a good leader. The last requirement is service—service to the school, to his friends, to mankind, and to God. The flaming torch and the keystone are the symbols of the society. The meaning of these symbols are explained to the new members before they are inducted into the society. The flaming torch represents the high ideals of the society and also the firm foundation upon which the education of young people must be established. The pins of the National Honor Society have these two symbols inscribed upon them. The members may use their membership cards as permanent hall permits, a unique privilege.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

At the beginning of the year they elected the following officers: Larry Albright, president; Ruth Beckman, vice-president; Lois Mensing, secretary-treasurer; and Leighton Smith, sergeant-at-arms. However, Larry Albright went out to Toledo University at the beginning of the second semester; consequently the society elected Ruth Prueter to serve as president for the rest of the year. The adviser of the organization is Mr. James Orwig. In order to raise money for the scholarship awarded annually by the society, an Information Please Program was held in March. Questions were written by the members and the panel of experts consisted of six teachers. Robert Bashore, acting as Libbey's Clifton Faidman, asked the questions. A bass drum was placed in front of the tables and when a question was missed the teachers each threw a quarter on the drum. The accumulated quarters were used to purchase War Stamps and contributed to the Office Fund. The program was well attended and the student body enjoyed listening to the teachers answer the questions which were on various subjects. In March, twenty-two members of the group participated in the Ohio State Scholarship Tests. Results of the tests showed that Libbey students ranked high. John Thomas placed first in the county results, and Norman Clark in second place was followed by Robert Bashore in third. Other Libbey honor students ranked eleventh, twelfth, fourteenth, fifteenth, twentieth, twenty-first, twenty-third, twenty-fourth, and twenty-fifth.

PERIES

Leadership, scholarship, and originality will make any girl stand out, and with these characteristics the Peries, full of school spirit, are all ready to challenge the rest of the kids in Libbey for an eventful school year. Opening the Peries' busy season was the "Cornstalk Shuffle" held in the school gym and the spooky atmosphere of Halloween added to the excitement of the dance. Colorful and gay could mean nothing but their mass meeting for the DeVilbiss game in November. Based on a circus theme, the school stage was filled with sideshow attractions, barkers, and fierce animals. With an impressive formal initiation in March, the members welcomed in the new girls to the Periclean Society. Later on in April was their Faculty-Mothers Tea and in May the Spring Banquet brought to a close another enjoyable year for the girls and one they won't forget.

For the programs of the year, the Peries found it entertaining as well as educational to listen to reviews of current books given by the members of the organization. Later on in the year phonograph records were played of various kinds of music at their club meetings. This was done to aid the girls in developing their appreciation of music of classical value. On their toes to do their best in anything they began, the Peries were assisted by a peppy group of officers and an efficient adviser. The cabinet for the year consisted of Nancy Boyer, as president; Joan Frank, vice-president; Anne Houser, recording secretary; Nancy Jaeck, corresponding secretary; Frances Lamb, treasurer; censor, Dulane Kaiser; Mildred Westgate, chaplain. Guiding and inspiring the group throughout the year was their adviser, Miss Ruth Dusha.

Success with perfection! This was the goal achieved by the Philaletheans in everything they undertook this year. They were easily distinguished from the rest of the school by their grey V-neck boy's sweaters. No more enthusiasm could have led our cowboys on to victory than the Phils dressed as cowgirls in a typical western setting at "El Ranch Libbey." Libbey Lou and Lanky Lil were the outstanding features of this mass meeting which brought our team victory over Scott when their goal was achieved again. The "January Jump" held at Calumet Temple, was most certainly one of the outstanding dances of the year. Thousands of tiny flakes were suspended from the ceiling, and Mr. and Mrs. Snowman bade you welcome as you danced past them. Was it the tiny novelties worn by the girls three weeks before the dance or the untiring efforts of the committee that brought them success? Following this came the Mothers' and Daughters' Tea which carried out the St. Patrick's Day theme. A tribute was given to each senior Phil. The social season was closed with the annual banquet at which time each senior received a gift. Although sad at parting, these girls will always carry with them pleasant memories of happy hours spent with their Phil sisters and able advisers: Miss Gerdes and Miss Allen.

Not only did the Phils have social events but they also had various literary programs at which they reviewed modern plays, biographies, and stories. The success of this year would not have been possible without the cabinet members; these included Margarete Mann, president; Nancy Sherman, vice-president; Jane Cumberworth and Josephine Knott, secretaries; Mary Lueck, treasurer; Mary Luetke, chaplain; Claire Vossler, senior censor; Marjorie Norwood, junior censor; and Norma Commager, reporter.

A merry-go-round of gay, hard working girls! They will be remembered by their club as the originators of a Zetalethean song and a representative emblem of the organization. The first of the social events was the Waite mass meeting where the gypsy theme was carried out. Next on the program was the annual dance, "The Canteen Bounce," which was held February 26, 1944, at Calumet Temple. The Zets also went into collaboration with the Architectural Club and aided in the second annual War Bond and Stamp Show held in April and open to the public. This social whirl came to an end with their banquet in May which was held at the Women's Building.

The Zetalethean program for the year has been one of an unusual nature, for though completely literary, the subjects have not adhered to the routine of topical discussions, but have delved into the history of the Zetalethean organization from its initiation in Toledo in 1903, tracing its many advancements and revisions to the present day. As a part of their endeavor to create the ideal literary society, the Libbey girls have revised the out-moded constitution, thus fully explaining to the girls the aim of the organization as a club to promote intellect and fellowship. Having accomplished this, their pledges were formally initiated at a closed tea. This group of girls has certainly lived up to the purpose of the Zetalethean Literary Society. The object is to teach good fellowship, consideration of others, the value of cooperation, and commendable school spirit. The members all feel that without the able leadership of their advisers, Miss Eberth and Miss Henderson, and their officers: Floralouise Duffey, president; Donna Schultz, vice-president; Lois Mensing, treasurer; Jane Tunks and Bobbie Simpson, secretaries; Doris Prior, chaplain; and Sara Ruth Bell, sergeant-at-arms; the club would not have been a success.

The Q.D.'s and Forum have continued their friendly rivalry through another successful year with a fast moving succession of activities and services. Mr. Baker, assuming the responsibilities as adviser for the Q.D.'s, was greatly helped by the new officers, including Ray DiPierro, president; Don Collingwood, vice-president; Robert Allison, secretary; Charles Meyer, treasurer; and John Zidarín, sergeant-at-arms. Proposing to discover and encourage original talent, to promote enlightened leadership, and to generate a will to serve, the Q.D.'s opened their activities with a roast at Side Cut Park in November. The Q.D.'s held their dance earlier this year than in past years. The name "Q.D. Shindig" brings back memories of a traditionally outstanding school dance. With the coming of spring, other activities soon followed which included a theater party and another roast. The highly successful year of services and activities was brought to a conclusion with the annual banquet in May.

From the shadows of past years, "The Forum Club" emerged to greater glory under the competent supervision of its new adviser and officers. Mr. Mortimer replaced the capable and dependable Mr. Vander, now teaching at Macomber. Much of the success of the club is credited to its new officers: Hobart Stevens, president; Jack Runyan, vice-president; Royce Lampe, secretary; Roland Lampe, treasurer, and Ted Black, sergeant-at-arms. The Forum opened its activities with a successful roast at Side-Cut Park in the fall. During the Christmas holidays, the season was enjoyed with a merry skating party. Events crowded together in the spring and were highlighted by one of the best dances of the year followed by another roast, this time at Fort Meigs. The year's festivities were concluded with the annual banquet in May.

SENIOR FRIENDSHIP

"Face life squarely!" With this slogan in mind the Senior Friendship Club has carried out many programs this year, under the able guidance of their adviser, Miss Allen, and their conscientious officers: president Nina Hoover; vice-president, Glenna Myers; corresponding secretary, Pegge Roberts; recording secretary, Gerry Lindroth; treasurer, Jean Gilbert; and chaplain, Lucille Warner. In the fall the club sponsored a very interesting program of readings by Mrs. John Klein. At Christmas time they bought the Christmas tree for the main hall at Libbey. The six Lenten services were jointly sponsored by the Friendship and Hi-Y Clubs. Every week a group of Senior Friendship girls brought cookies for the U.S.O. Lounge at the Union Station. Donations were given to help further the work of the Y.W.C.A. The club also bought a row boat for Camp Walbridge. Members participated in forums that were held at the "Y" on Sunday afternoons. Because of the great need for helpers the girls offered their services for Red Cross work in some of Toledo's Hospitals.

The first social event of the year was a skating party held at the Coliseum. After the football season was over the annual Football Banquet was held for the football players and their mothers. At Christmas the three Friendship Clubs of Libbey had a combined party. During the year two city-wide parties were given at the Y.W.C.A. for Friendship girls. In the spring a tea was given in honor of all the mothers. A banquet concluded the year's program.

"To Find and Give the Best!" Accordingly the Sophomore Friendship girls carried out their duties efficiently during the past year. Many interesting programs were planned under the helpful adviser, Mrs. Black, and the following officers: June Pier, president; Betty Rahm, vice-president; Joanne Bennet, recording secretary; Dorothy Benson, corresponding secretary; Erleen Becker, treasurer. Interesting talks were heard by the girls from their guest speakers, Miss Musselman, who is a member of the Y.W.C.A. staff; and Miss Brown, a WAVE. This group of Friendship girls is well-loved at the Lucas County Children's Home. Each of the girls adopted an orphan to remember at Christmas time and on his birthday. The social events of the year were a skating party held in the Coliseum and a party for the members with Specialist Brown.

of the WAVES as guest speaker. Many of the Sophomore Friendship girls of Libbey enjoyed the interesting Sunday afternoon meetings of the Hi-Y and Friendship Clubs of Toledo at the Y.M.C.A. during the month of February. In February, Libbey, aided by Rossford and Macomber High Schools, was the host. The topic was "The American Way—Forward Ho!" Mr. Harry Lamb led the discussion in which everyone was given a chance to express his opinion. Many of the Sophomore Friendship girls participated in this discussion. After the discussion refreshments were served and games were enjoyed. A great deal of credit must be given to this energetic group, for though they are the youngest friendship group in Libbey they work hard and seriously.

SENIOR HI-Y

A well-disciplined enthusiastic group of boys with much more than ordinary ability and qualities of leadership directed the activities of Libbey's Senior Hi-Y during the past year. Under the fine guidance of their adviser, Principal Harold E. Williams, whose earnest and conscientious efforts make possible the success of this organization, the club continued to promote their purpose of encouraging the growth of Christian feeling in the boys and to create a spirit of good fellowship among them. The club's officers included Robert Bashore, president; Max Rothschild, vice-president; Richard Wittman, secretary; Donald Poenicke, treasurer; and Charles Sackett, chaplain.

The events of the year were many and varied. As usual in conjunction with the Junior Hi-Y and the Friendship Clubs, the Senior Hi-Y sponsored the Lenten Services held in our school auditorium. The group also participated in the February Forums, held at the Central Y.M.C.A. Two very successful skating parties at Memorial Hall in October and in April provided both fun and profit for the boys. Among the outstanding speakers of the year were Jose Del Acquila, an exchange student from Lima, Peru; Toledo's Mayor Lloyd Roulet; Alfred Saal, a magician; the Reverend Victor Ridenour; and Judge Frank W. Wiley.

SENIOR HI-Y AND STUDENT COUNCIL

The annual Mothers' and Sons' banquet held in May was well appreciated and marked the end of a year in which the seniors have most effectively carried on the ideals and program of work of the Hi-Y, leaving to their successors a fine example to follow and a worthy work to continue.

The Student Council and Court act in a general advisory capacity to promote the welfare of the school and to carry out a program that will help better the school and students. The president, Hobart Stevens; the vice-president, Robert Bashore; and the secretary, Donna Schultz, were advised by the able faculty members: Mr. Lynn, Miss Allen, Miss Dusha, and Mr. Mortimer. A successful project of the group was a "War Stamp Dance," held in the gym after the DeVilbiss basketball game. The proceeds of this were added to Libbey's total towards the 4th War Loan Drive. Throughout the year the Student Council offered suggestions on keeping the lunch rooms clean, reducing tardiness, and improving the attitude of pupils toward teachers. The Council also takes charge of the Junior and Senior class elections. The Senior and Junior Classes have representatives each, while the Sophomore and Freshman Classes have two each on the Student Council.

To be admitted into the Junior Hi-Y of Libbey marks a boy as the possessor of high personal qualities and indicates that he is willing to create, maintain, and extend throughout the community high standards of Christian character. The Club's trio of advisers consists of Principal Harold E. Williams, Ivan C. Smith of the South Side Y, and George Keifer. Under the able direction of these men, the Junior Hi-Y composed of sophomores and freshmen are prepared for leadership and excellence of character. The officers included Max Rothschild, president; Ted Sipe, vice-president; Bob A. Kaiser, secretary; Ralph Heuerman, treasurer; and Hillis McKenzie, chaplain.

During the past year this group has co-operated with the Senior Hi-Y in all their activities. The Forums held each Sunday during February proved very stimulating to the younger boys some of whom participated in this type of project for the first time. The Lenten Services, which provide so much spiritual benefit for the school, were also a part of the Junior Hi-Y effort. The Toledo Clergymen who spoke under Hi-Y and Friendship Clubs sponsorship were the Reverend Byron A. Hughes, the Reverend Russell J. Humbert, the Reverend Lloyd Holloway, the Reverend H. M. McAdow, the Reverend Wm. L. Steffens, and the Reverend S. C. Michelfelder.

The Junior Friendship Club this past year has realized the purpose of the organization which is to render service. Numerous visits to the County Infirmary were welcomed by the patients there to whom the girls brought magazines and refreshments. Gifts were also made to the Japanese Hospitality House in Apache, Colorado. The girls also worked at the Walbridge Nursery, at the Red Cross, and in hospitals. Scrap-books for the children in County Hospital and quiz sheets for soldiers were made. On the social side a splash party and a skating party at the Y.W.C.A. were fun for the members as well as a party at the home of Miss Irwin. A pot luck supper was also held. Fellowship meetings at the Y.W.C.A. and a guest meeting in the school gym conclude the list of social events. With the aid of the advisers, Miss Gilbert and Miss Irwin, the Junior Friendship has done much for the benefit of others. The cabinet for the year was Ellen Cavode, president; Joyce Hause, vice-president; Marjorie Norwood, recording secretary; Dorothy Schirr, corresponding secretary; Elaine Ehrenfried, treasurer; chaplain, Lois Belk; council representative, Ellen O'Halloran.

An industrious group of students, the Junior Red Cross all year have followed their pledge: We believe in service for others; in health of mind and body to fit us for better service; and in world-wide friendship. The leader of the Council was Miss Eloise Voorheis and its officers were Elaine Sunday, president; and Ruth Haase, secretary-treasurer. The Junior Red Cross packed thirty Christmas boxes for children in foreign countries. Every one at Lucas County Hospital received at Christmas a present, a favor filled with candy and place cards. Favors and place cards were also sent to the Sunset Home. Mercy and Toledo Hospitals received toys and scrap-books. The veterans at Chilicothe Hospital received toys and scrap-books. The veterans at Chilicothe Hospital were sent Easter favors.

ACTIVITIES AND DEANS' AIDES

The Activities Club is rightly named because it is one of the most active clubs in Libbey. With Mr. Martin as its adviser the Activities Department takes care of promoting all the activities that take place during the school year. This committee sells tickets for events, and also takes care of the distribution of activities tickets. In spite of the great amount of work they do, this department still reports that "Everyday's a holiday." At the end of the year the members plan to have a picnic. The officers of the club are Jane Tunks, senior chairman, and Donna Wirick, junior chairman. Other positions are filled by Margie Hemsoth, circulation manager of the Edelian; Ruth Thomas, assistant circulation manager of the Edelian; Shirley Kime, advertising manager of the Edelian; Elaine Ehrenfried, assistant advertising manager of the Edelian; Floyd Ramsdell, mimeographing manager; Don Ramsdell, mimeographing; and Elaine Fenner, stencils.

The Deans' Aides do general office work for Miss Brown, Dean of Girls, and Mr. Rusie, Dean of Boys. Each girl works one hour every day and also devotes one-half hour of her time after school to this work. No girl is given credit unless she has worked at least one full year. Among their many duties are these: to check attendance slips, file, locate students for the Deans, in some cases type letters, and to answer as many questions for students as they are able. There are no officers in this organization. Every girl has a certain amount of work she must do each week to receive credit. These girls save both Miss Brown and Mr. Rusie a great deal of time, trouble, and work. The Deans' Aides enjoyed their annual party at the end of the year.

PROJECTION AND DRAMATIC CLUB

The purpose of the Projection Club is to promote visual education in Libbey High School in order to give the pupils in the classroom a better knowledge of the subjects they are studying. For the benefit of the group itself, the club has a special project whereby the members study a variety of films which they order for their classes. Relaxation and fun are also included in the clubs' activities. In March a skating party for the members and the rest of the school was held at Memorial Hall and later on a show was given by the Projection Club in the school auditorium. Earlier in January, new members were initiated. The club adviser, Mr. Lincke, has been of much assistance to this group and the capable cabinet added to the efficiency of the club. The officers were Lela Turner, president; Rita Ludwig, vice-president; Pat Hitchcox, secretary; Dick Jirinec, treasurer; Shirley Kells, sergeant-at-arms.

From the Dramatic Club come our future actors and actresses, producers and playwrights. This last year, under the leadership of Miss Angela M. Costigan, the purpose of the club has been to interpret and produce plays, and to promote interest in dramatic activities within the school. The offices were capably handled by Earl Straub, president; Josephine Knott, vice-president; Ruby Keller, recording secretary; Lois Giffen, corresponding secretary; and John Dent, treasurer. The Senior Class Play, "Young April," the Junior Class Play, "The Fighting Littles," and the annual one-act plays, were some of the outstanding highlights of the school year. A banquet in the spring brought a climax to a successful year.

LIBBEY CHOIR

The gift of a voice for song is a wonderful attribute. Under the expert direction of Kenneth Holland, Libbey and all Toledo enjoys the blended voices of the young pupils of the Libbey High School Choir. The fame of this group has not come easily. The pupils of the choir not only spend many hours preparing their music, but also many hours studying the background of great musicians, the fundamentals of reading and singing, proper breathing, and daily living habits. The choir is composed of students, usually those who have been in the chorus classes, and who have had previous training and study. The pianist is usually a member of the class. Libbey has enjoyed the music of the choir at the Lenten Services held each Friday during Lent. The Choir prepared a special anthem besides the two hymns in which the whole school joined.

In addition to the Lenten services in school, the Choir has given many other programs for the year, which include the Northwestern Ohio Music Education Association at the Art Museum in October, and also in February. At Christmas the Choir presented a concert on the Annual Board of Education Christmas Broadcast over W.S.P.D. In March, the choir broadcast a program over a W.T.O.L. and participated in the Annual Palm Sunday Concert for the seventh year. The group also sang for the services held on Good Friday in the Paramount Theatre. The choir also included in its program for the year, engagements to sing for various Luncheon Clubs.

BAND

Everyone at Libbey is proud of the Band. Whenever the uniform of blue and gold is seen, we stand a little straighter, and raise our heads a little higher because the Band strengthens our feeling of school spirit. During the year nine members of Libbey's Band were chosen to play with the All City High School Band in a concert in the peristyle of the Art Museum. Another activity of the Band was to present the elementary schools in the south end with concerts. Among the schools visited were Westfield, Jones Junior High, and Burroughs. The Band marched at football time and provided the music for our songs and cheers. They are also included in holiday parades and on other occasions. During the year the Band took part three times in the parades to promote contributions to the War Chest.

The music at one of our Lenten services was provided by a brass quartet, members of which were Bob Gilmore, Bill Aufderheide, Clifford Bishop, and Madora Waite. One of the many outstanding players in the Band is Don Barnard. He is well known in Libbey as one of the best drum players ever to have played in the Libbey Band. The annual Libbey Band Concert was held in the school auditorium. The players also formed a part of the Memorial Day Parade as well as presenting a program at the Senior Commencement exercises. The success and popularity of Libbey's splendid musical organization is largely due to the work of the director, Mr. Kenneth Holland.

Libbey High School is indeed fortunate in having such an organization as the Junior Classical League, for through their efforts, the school has obtained statues for its library. At the Ohio Classical Conference, which was held at Libbey in October, these statues were presented to the school library. One, the Venus de Milo, and the other, the Winged Victory of Samothrace, were purchased by the organization the previous year. Since the school library is of special interest to the Classical League, this organization plans to present gifts to it from time to time.

The Libbey Classical League is a chapter of the National Junior Classical League and its purpose is to promote interest in the Classics, Fine Arts, and Ancient History. With the assistance of the club's advisers, Mrs. Burton and Miss Eberth, this organization has risen to prominence in Libbey. In addition to the League's contributions to the school is a trophy presented to a four-year language student at the Commencement Exercises. The social activities of the group consisted of an initiation party and a spring roast. The theme of all their programs has been Roman daily life. Various trips to the Art Museum were also of interest and a benefit to the members who are eager to enrich themselves in art and history. The club officers were Paul Prueter as Consul Primus; Lois Mensing, Consul Secundus; Ruth Prueter, Praetor; Joanne Yutzy, Aedile; Clarence Gartz, Quaestor; Gerald Schwind, Censor.

To further one's interest in the culture, background, and customs of our Latin American neighbors is indeed a worthy purpose toward which to work; and under the skillful guidance of the club advisers, Miss Russell and Miss Coehrs, this purpose has been very successfully carried out by the Spanish Club. A systematic study about the geographical, cultural, and historical facts of the Central Americas, Puerto Rico, Cuba and other South American countries, aroused the interest of the club members and gave them an incentive to work hard to achieve their goal of promoting an interest in the Spanish speaking nations. With the assistance of the president, Pat Reynolds; the vice-president, Margie Clay; the secretary, Dorothy Benson; and the treasurer, Peggy Switzer; the Spanish Club has done much toward interesting the students of Libbey with the Spanish language and the customs and historical facts of the Latin American countries. As an extra outside activity the members of the club participated in Red Cross work during the year.

The social events of the group opened with a hay-ride at Pearson Park in November. In December a Christmas party was held at the home of one of the members. A club skate to which the student body was invited, was held in January at the Memorial Hall Roller Rink. This meant plenty of fun for everyone. As a suitable ending to their social activities of the year the club members held a dance in March at the Walbridge Park Shelter House.

LATIN HONOR SOCIETY AND FRENCH CLUB

To stimulate and recognize excellence in the study of languages is the purpose of two of Libbey's language clubs—the Latin Honor Society and the French Club. Membership in the Latin Honor Society is the highest honor that can be bestowed upon any Latin student maintaining, for two consecutive semesters, an "A" average and no grade below a "B" thereafter. Because of the lack of building materials the usual exhibit of models designed to pattern ancient Roman features has been discontinued for the duration. Sterling silver medals were presented during the year to those students who show the most interest in their daily work and participation in class. The Latin Honor Medal and Eta Sigma Phi National honor award were presented to the out-standing four-year students. The officers this year, appointed by the adviser Mrs. Burton, were Ruth Prueter, president; Gerald Schwind, vice-president; and Paul Prueter, secretary-treasurer. To arouse greater interest in the French language, civilization, and culture is the firm purpose of the French Club, which chose as their year's program French songs, games, and reports on France and French civilization. Although the group was small, the members fulfilled their duties efficiently. With the aid of the adviser, Miss Bernice Krueger, the officers, Dale Dennis, president; Virginia Cox, vice-president; Jacqueline Ramisch, secretary, performed their various obligations very well. One of the first social events held by the group was a Christmas party; later in the year came a fudge sale; and in May a Splash Party was given.

"LIB" AND HOME ECONOMICS

Unique and different are both the articles and the cartoons making up the "Lib." Published twice during the school year, the first issue dedicated to the men in our armed forces and the spring issue dedicated to the Seniors, this magazine brought a large response from the student body. Created by the original ideas of the staff, the magazine had a definite purpose in designing and printing. The groups annual banquet was held in the spring and a hay-ride and roast was also enjoyed by everyone. Under their adviser, Miss Bartley, Norma Commager, Editor-in-chief; Jack Jimison, Associate Editor; and George Bracht, Business Manager, the staff of the "Lib" has presented two editions that will long be remembered.

Vocational Guidance was the theme of the Home Economics Club this year. The purpose of this club is to promote the study of various phases of Home Economics, to develop an interest in this important field, and to provide an opportunity for social contacts among Home Economics Girls. At their meetings during the year they had a speaker from the Gas Company; Dorothy Coen, buyer of women's apparel at Lasalle's; a dietician from a hospital; and a dietician from a tea room. Everyone knows a Home Ec. girl because she can be seen wearing her dark red sweater and National Home Economics Club pin. Early in February the club held a Valentine Party and later in the spring came their annual banquet. The group was ably directed by the advisers, Miss Murbach, Miss Wylie, and Miss Owen; president, Betty Smith; vice-president, Ruth Weber; secretary, Jacqueline Smith; and treasurer, Iris Ganum.

ENGINEERS AND ARCHITECTURAL CLUB

Stimulation of friendship, wise use of leisure time, and furthering interests in Engineering, Science, and all Industrial Arts activities, is the purpose of the Engineering Society. Under the capable leadership of their advisor, Mr. Sterling, and the officers, Joe Pacholczyk, president; Norman Shanteau, vice-president; Alvin Beitelschees, secretary; Clarence Marion, treasurer; and Don Black, sergeant-at-arms; this society obtained speakers to talk on selected subjects at their meetings. It is hoped that in this way all of the boys became interested in some specialized field of engineering. At these meetings, new developments and progress in engineering were discussed. A Spring banquet ended the social events of the year.

"Buy your War Bonds and Stamps here!" This was the cry of the Architectural Club this year, as their program was centered around the selling of stamps and bonds. With Mr. Packer, their adviser, and Robert Webb, president; Robert Jay, vice-president; Richard Klein, secretary; Melvin Breitner, treasurer; and Dale Metzger, sergeant-at-arms; these students have carried out the purpose of the club. They pursue the study of architecture and building to secure an understanding of construction and an appreciation of good architectural design. They were also co-sponsors of an ice skating party and had a theater party and hay-ride. The Architects participated in a theatrical production for selling war stamps. As an asset to Libbey, well-deserved praise goes to this club.

ALCHEMISTS AND CHESS

To stimulate interest in science! Yes, that is the aim of the Alchemist Club. Because of the increasing number of activities, the Alchemist Club was slow in accomplishing any unusual feats in the beginning of the year. However, under the able supervision of their adviser, Mr. Vossler, and their officers, Robert Wenzel president; Margaret Koepp, vice-president; Doris Prior, recording secretary; Sararuth Bell, corresponding secretary; and John Thomas, treasurer; the club soon become more active. The members were shown an interesting movie on glass. A trip through a glass plant and various speakers composed the remainder of the scientific program. The members also had social pleasure: a bowling party held the first semester; and a splash party, the second semester, in conjunction with the Biology Club. Thus, the members were very glad that they were active in this club. Through the meetings that were held every other week, they not only discovered more facts about chemistry in the industrial world, but they also gained pleasure from the new friendships that were formed.

The Chess Club also has an important purpose. These boys are stimulating their interest in Chess. Tournament games were arranged among the members. Games were also scheduled between Chess Clubs of other schools in the city. The official work of the club was done by Mr. Lynn, adviser; John Thomas, president; Richard Rein, vice-president; and Robert Kobbie, secretary-treasurer. Since the object of this club is recreation, the members feel that any social events would be superfluous. Through the membership in this organization boys have not only found pleasure in learning and playing this intricate game, but they have also developed alertness of mind.

Miracles of Nature! Striving for a wider knowledge and greater appreciation of all natural life is the main objective of this active organization. The program for the year was designed to give information about life on the South Sea Islands where our armed forces are fighting. Bill Heater, Don Stanton, and Fanny Fletcher deserve credit for gathering the interesting material used in this series. The Club also was the guest of the Alchemists for a lecture and a movie about glass. In keeping with their policy of education and recreation, members of the Club planned many social activities during the year. Their first event was a skating party at Memorial Hall in October. In February the Biologists joined with the Alchemists to sponsor their second annual swimming party. Then followed an initiation, based upon a unique theme, which people will not soon forget.

Under the able leadership of its officers, Norman Clark, president; Jean Gilbert, vice-president; Jackie Snyder, secretary; and Bob Bashore, treasurer; the club was able to operate smoothly. Of course, the whole society including the officers, looks up to the advisers, Miss Fiedler, and the new arrival to the Science Department, Miss Pickard, for their suggestions and counsel. As the scientific interest in this school increases, so has the membership in the organization steadily increased.

The business world is indeed important. To equip the students who are planning to enter this world is one of the aims of the Commercial Club. Another purpose of this active club is to induce the students to enter business courses. Thus they are not only helping the actual graduate of commercial work, but they are securing new students for this practical vocation. The officers and adviser have done much toward accomplishing these aims. Mr. Osgood directed the club as adviser and the cabinet consisted of Betty Wakefield, president; Donna Wirick, vice-president; Margie Hemsoth, secretary; Gaye Houser, treasurer; and Larry Albright, sergeant-at-arms.

This club has been very active socially this past year. The first event was a money-making scheme, a fudge sale which proved highly successful. Next came a Christmas party in the little gym for the active members and the pledges. The initiation then followed. Rapidly following this last activity a theater party was held at one of the downtown theater houses. In the early spring came the all important skating party, from the standpoint of both the members of the club and the students of the school. This annual skating party is part of the club tradition. Because of the war it is not definite whether the club would be able to hold their annual banquet. At this function the new officers were usually announced for the next year. However, the members know that there will be some novel way of introducing the new officers and saying good-bye to the faithful senior members.

GIRLS ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Basketball, volleyball, and baseball — these sports and others were enjoyed by the members of the Girls' Athletic Association in their after-school tournaments in the gym. The girls formed teams at the beginning of the year and competed against each other. In the fall a basketball tournament was held. This was followed by a volleyball tournament, and in the spring by a baseball tournament. Each tournament found every team offering stiff competition to its opponent. When the weather was favorable for outdoor sports, the girls enjoyed tennis and archery. The members received a certain number of points for participating in each of the associations after school activities. When they obtained the required number of points they were given a large yellow "L" to wear on a dark blue sweater. By participating in these various sports the girls have an opportunity to become interested in some sport so they might make it their hobby after they leave school. For their social events the girls had a splash party at Waite in March. To end their year's activities, the girls had a picnic. This year the Girls' Athletic Association chose as their officers: Mary Jane Spitler, president; Norma Commager, vice-president; Madara Waite, secretary; and Joan Fitzgerald, treasurer. Miss Maher and Miss Atwell are the advisers of the club.

DELIGHTS OF THE DANCE

Eh, Lois and Bob?

DR. CHARLES H. WILLIAMS

The ability to persevere in one's devotion to an ideal is one of the finest traits of character that anyone can possess. And thus it is that as we can see Dr. Charles H. Williams continue year after year to support all the activities of Libbey High School, we admire and respect him more and more. His encouragement of the interest of the students in culture, scholarship, leadership, and sports is made manifest by his generous and beautiful gifts both to individual students and to the school. We are indeed proud of his patronage and very grateful to him for his gracious interest in and loyalty to everything that concerns Libbey. Our happiest wish for him is that his kindness to us may be returned to him in manifold joys and blessings.

COACH JAMES ORWIG

The task of Coach Orwig last fall was to match a record of a two-year football championship with the handicap of having many of his good and well-trained players leave to join the Armed Forces. He did a splendid job in training the partly inexperienced team and making them the equal of the teams of Waite and DeVilbiss. At every practice and game Coach Orwig was behind the boys, encouraging and leading them on to fight with all they had. We are very proud of our football team and the success Mr. Orwig has had in upholding Libbey's standards. We wish Mr. Orwig success in future years in leading Libbey's team to victory.

ADMINISTRATION

DR. R. C. YOUNG

Director of athletics, untangler of difficulties, and counsellor-at-large, Charles Martin has a heavy schedule on his hands. With his usual efficiency he worked out a splendid schedule of sports for 1943-44 and in addition devised a series of football programs that gave variety and interest to each game. Assisting him throughout the year was Orville Henrion who kept books, checked tickets, and inventoried old and new equipment. The value of this administrative pair to the fame of Libbey in all its athletic phases is recognized and appreciated by everyone.

COACHES

DR. R. D. LADD

In order to round out the program of athletics at Libbey the work of many people is necessary. The care given our boys by Dr. R. C. Young and Dr. R. D. Ladd has been most important. To "Jeff" goes a lot of credit for his help as assistant varsity football coach and lightweight basketball coach. In addition the genial grin of "Jeff" is worth something, too! Bill Everhart directed track and cross-country teams with great success and also supervised the group of student managers. Coming from Macomber, Ben Jeffery worked well the light-weight football team.

1943 SUMMARY

Riding on a crest of glory from two previous undefeated seasons, Libbey's Golden Cowboys opened the 1943 season against Central Catholic. They didn't pay off on yardage gained, but on the score board. That was the story in a nut shell, as the Irish upset Libbey 12 to 0. Collingwood and Krall piled up most of the yardage. Getting off to a bad start, the Cowboys lost a heartbreaker at Waite 12 to 6. As in the first game statistics proved that the Cowboys were superior, but lacked the scoring points. A pass from Krall to Collingwood proved to be Libbey's only score. The following week, Libbey outclassed Woodward in every department, as the Cowboys smashed the Polar Bears 45 to 0. Combining speed with a good passing attack, Libbey coasted to an easy 33 to 12 triumph over Scott's Bulldogs. Krall's passes, combined with Zollar's speed, proved too much for the outmanned Bulldogs. Playing practically the entire game in Irish territory, the Cowboys found convincing revenge in the 25 to 0 score as the team, sparked by Porky Jennings, ripped the Irish line to threads. Handicapped by injuries, the Cowboys were defeated 20 to 0 by a powerful Waite squad. Charlie Meyer proved outstanding in his ferocious blocking and tackling. Vaulting back into the winning column, the Cowboys piled up a 28 to 0 score, as Zollars, Bricker, and Krall paced the attack. Guard Bob Reagan, playing his last game before entering the Navy, plunged over for the last score. Playing in a driving snow, the Cowboys edged Scott 14 to 6. In the traditional Turkey Day game, Libbey turned on the power to defeat DeVilbiss 12 to 6. This victory clinched second place for the Cowboys in the City League.

MRS. DELLA WILLIAMS PAINE

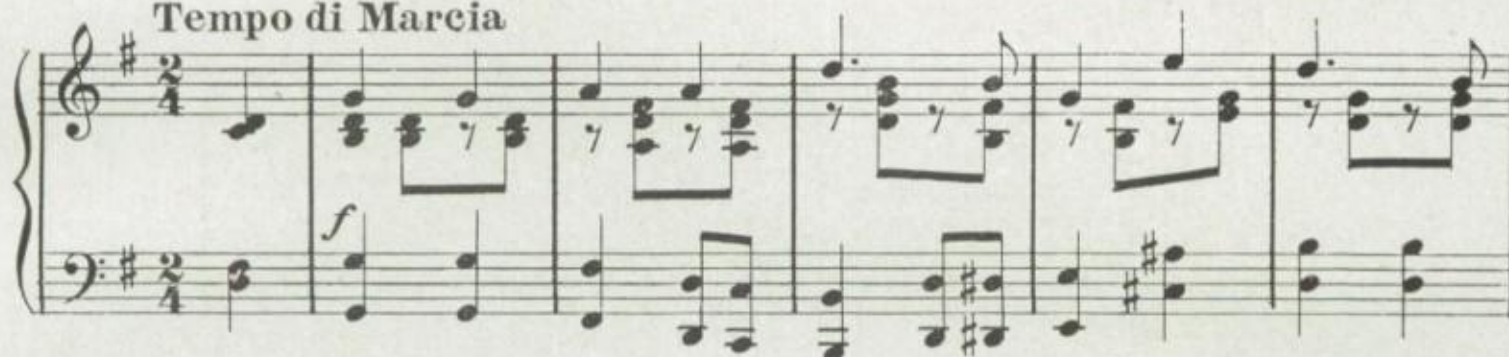

Libbey Song Writer

A frequent guest at Libbey and one of our most devoted supporters, Mrs. Della Williams Paine, the composer of our school songs, will always hold a very high place in the affection of both the students and the faculty because of her sweet sincerity and her kindly charm.
